Dehqonobod Potash Plant (DKZ)

Dehqonobod Potash Plant (DKZ) recognizes the importance of conserving biodiversity as part of its commitment to responsible environmental management.

Although DKZ operates in a semi-arid and low-biodiversity area, the company seeks to minimize its environmental footprint and avoid unnecessary disturbance to natural ecosystems surrounding its operations.

DKZ adheres to the following principles:

- Comply with all relevant environmental and biodiversity protection regulations;
- Prevent any activities that may cause habitat degradation or loss;
- Monitor and manage environmental impacts associated with mining and processing;
- Promote awareness among employees and contractors about biodiversity conservation;
- Support national and local initiatives aimed at protecting the natural environment.

This policy is part of DKZ's broader environmental responsibility and its commitment to sustainable and responsible mining practices.
